CONSOLIDATION
RURAL ROUTES
IS ANNOUNCED

Four Of Eight Routes
Out Of Dixon Will Be Merged Soon

The Dixon postoffice after July 1 will serve six rural routes where eight are now being served. Four of the routes are to be consolidated. Postmaster John E. Moyer announced today. Routes 2 and 6 are to be consolidated with Charles Lloyd as the carrier and Dudley Woodworth, who has carried mail on rural route 6 for the past 30 years will retire from the government service after 30 years faithful service. The new route will cover approximately 43 miles total, and will be known as route 2.

Routes 3, which is now served by Freeman Robinson, and 4, served by Fred Lewis, are also to be consolidated and will be known as route 3. The route will be served by Robinson who will cover approximately 52 miles daily. Mr. Lewis is to be transferred to a rural route out of the Polo postoffice.

Route 7 which is handled by Lee Bivens is to be changed to route 4. Route 5 which is carried by Bert Robinson remains unchanged and route 8 which is served by Fred Hammerstrom will become route 6.

New Rates July 6
Postmaster Moyer also calls attention to the change in the postal rate which becomes effective July 6. Under the new ruling, first-class mail matter will require three cents postage for each ounce or fraction thereof and it is important that at least one full three cent postage be paid on all letters to prevent delay in mailing. In the event of insufficient postage, the return address will be notified, or the addressee, which will entail considerable delay in dispatch, until the proper amount of postage is received.

Also effective on July 6, the new postal rule requires an advance of from five to eight cents on all air mail for the first ounce or fraction thereof and 13 cents for each additional ounce. Air mail for foreign countries will be 10 cents for the first ounce and 15 cents for each additional ounce and must be fully prepaid.

NURSE'S STORY
TOO DRAWN OUT
JUDGE DECIDESCourt Tries To Speed
Up Trial Of Hubby
Of Evangelist

Los Angeles, June 25 (AP)—The tearful description of the love scenes in the alleged broken romance of David Hutton, singer, and Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, nurse, is taking too much time, Judge A. Lester Roth has decided.

"This trial is costing the county a lot of money and it ought to be expedited," said the trial judge after the pretty, brunette nurse completed her third day of cross-examination on the witness stand in her $20,000 suit for alleged breach of promise against the husband of Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist.

Before court adjourned yesterday, for the week-end Judge Roth took a hand in an effort to speed things up by admonishing Miss St. Pierre for talking out of turn and insisting on having the last word.

A fainting spell, sobbing and heated denials punctuated her story yesterday. In tears she admitted association with other men after prolonged cross-examination by Hutton's attorney.

Told of Gin Parties
Asked if Lloyd Curry, a young Pasadena station agent whose name was conspicuous in this phase of the questioning, had not remained at her home until dawn one morning, the nurse replied: "I do not remember."

She told of a gin party, at which she insisted she did not drink while her guests "mixed cocktails until I had to throw them out." The party was held in her home in 1930. The guests were another young woman and two men who said she had met by chance in an office building.

Her last meeting with Hutton before his marriage was sobbingly described. He came, she said, only to retrieve a copy of "The Strange Death of President Harding," which he had loaned her, and she didn't even kiss her.

Bandits Kidnaped

Rockford, Ill., June 25 (AP)—Virginia Castiglioni, 17, kidnaped by two masked men who used her to shield their escape after they had held up 15 men and women in a bungalow, was released unharmed early today. Police captured three suspects.

The loot of the robbery was estimated at $1,000 in cash and jewelry. Roy Hallberg, escort of the girl, was beaten senseless when he went to her aid.

Roosevelt Sends
Thanks To Aides
Albany, N. Y., June 25 (AP)—Appearing more confident of victory than ever, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt prepared to depart for a week-end at his Hyde Park home today after thanking his leaders at Chicago for their efforts.

The thanks were given last night by telephone. The Governor spoke to 40 leaders of the Roosevelt movement gathered in conference at Chicago, and his words were amplified in the conference room by a loud speaker.

After his words of gratitude for what his managers are doing, each of the conferees said a word of greeting to the Governor.

The amplifying device is a new adaptation. It permits every one in a room to hear the voice at the other end of the wire.

There has been no final decision, it was understood, as to whether the Governor will make a flying trip to the Chicago convention.

COALITION IS

Democrats are Lining Up
For Bitter Fight
On Proposals

Chicago, June 25 (AP)—John F. Curry, leader of Tammany hall, Mayor Walker of New York and James A. Farley, Roosevelt campaign manager, spent 15 minutes together behind closed doors of a secret Tammany conference room today.

When the trio emerged they said they had discussed nothing but the distribution of New York's allotment in tickets. Importance, however, was attached to the meeting because Curry has not yet indicated any way which presidential aspirant will receive the 40 to 50 votes he controls and because of Tammany's decision to fight against the Roosevelt forces in the battle to abrogate the two-thirds rule.

Clarence Darrow, famous lawyer, sat in an outside room during the conference reminiscing with old New York friends.

Chicago, June 25 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith declared today that those seeking to abrogate the two-thirds rule in the Democratic convention are "as good as licked already."

As the "Happy Warrior" of 1928 made this statement on opening his daily press conference, the long awaited coalition threat to bolt Roosevelt if he is nominated with out the two-thirds majority took

Sheriff's Picnic
Ducats To Prisoners—

Chicago, June 25 (AP)—Who bought tickets to the Sheriff's outing and picnic to be held July 9?

Who the prisoners. And are the going? Nobody knows, but many of them have engagements with judges and juries about that time which may spoil everything.

The prisoners' investments in the picnic business was revealed yesterday during questioning of two guards suspended pending an investigation as to how a gun was smuggled to a prisoner, James Lawrence. He recently killed a guard and himself.

One of the guards, Fred Studebaker, was found in possession of a book of picnic tickets, all but two of which had been sold.

"I sold 'em," he said, "up in tier C."

organized form. Several party wheel horses lined up in favor of the ancient rule, including Newton D. Baker.

A round robin pledging the signers not to support any candidate who does not receive two-thirds of next week's convention vote was drawn up by anti-Roosevelt men as the leaders for the New York Governor began another check-up of the forces they will throw into the fight for abrogation.

They claim a simple majority, both for their candidate, and for abolishing the rule, but their figures are disputed.

Baker Opposed Also
In Cleveland, Baker, most talked of as the compromise candidate for President if the Roosevelt candidacy goes on the rocks, said that a nomination produced from a majority riding rough shod over the established traditions of the party would be deeply embarrassing both to the party and the candidate.

His statement, the first he has issued about Democratic politics in weeks, was hailed by the gathering convention crowds as one more serious blow to the Roosevelt hopes.

Almost at the same time, Senator Walsh of Montana, who not only is a Roosevelt man but the Roosevelt choice for permanent chairman of the convention, arrived in Chicago with the announcement that while he opposed the two-thirds requirement as a matter of principle, he was not sure that this was the time to make a change.

Saw Tammany Head
At the press conference, Smith said he had seen John F. Curry, Tammany leader who has become the mystery man of the convention because he has not expressed a preference among the candidates, for a few minutes in a hotel lobby last night.

"We had nothing to say to each other about the convention—there was too much of a crowd around," he said he had also seen Governor Ritchie of Maryland but on that occasion there was also too large a crowd present to permit a political discussion. He has not seen Mayor Walker, a fellow New York delegate, since his arrival yesterday, he said.

Discuss Plan
The all absorbing prohibition issue came up for public debate today before a Resolutions committee already agreed on the general form of a repeal submission plank.

Even as the rival leaders of the organized wets and dries prepared for an hour and a half of argument, late in the day, the Roosevelt

EMERGENCY ONE
YEAR FARM AID
BILL APPROVEDHouse Committee Has Given O. K. To Rep.
Rainey's Bill

Washington, June 25 (AP)—An emergency one-year farm relief bill sponsored by Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, was approved today by the House Agricultural committee.

The bill is a modification of the domestic allotment plan of farm relief and, though originally intended to apply only to wheat, cotton and hogs, was amended to cover virtually all other staple commodities, including corn, tobacco, live stock and dairy products.

It directs the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the percentage of total domestic production of a commodity that will be needed for domestic consumption.

Each producer then is issued adjustment certificates covering his share of the announced domestic consumption of his product. These certificates would be redeemable at their face value, the money to be paid the producer out of a "domestic adjustment fund."

This fund would be obtained by an adjustment charge levied on the processor, equal to the amount of tariff protection on the commodity. For wheat, it would be 42 cents a bushel; for cotton, five cents a pound and for hogs two cents a pound.

Processors would be refunded the adjustment charge on all commodities exported.

FUGITIVES ARE CAPTURED NEAR
NACHUSA FRIDAYA Six Hour Search By Officers Ended
Successfully

Two airplanes from the Dixon Municipal airport and a dozen automobiles filled with deputies, police and state hospital employees under the direction of Sheriff Fred A. Richardson, scoured the fields south of Nachusa for more than six hours yesterday in the search for four male patients from the Dixon state hospital, who were finally captured about 4 o'clock in the afternoon on the Charles Shippert farm south of Nachusa, where they had crawled out of an improvised camp in a swamp and were wending their way toward the Northwest tracks west of Nachusa.

Deputy Ward Miller, who had just returned to Dixon after a long fruitless hunt, was notified by a farmer who saw the four young men walking through a field and immediately telephoned the Sheriff's office. The quartette made no second attempt to escape when Deputy Miller and the farmer appeared on the scene. The four were Walter and Zigmund Zukowsky, Lawrence Chobos and Albert Kuskir, all former patients at the institution who had escaped about a month ago. They had been recaptured by Chicago police and held at the psychopathic hospital until yesterday morning when Deputy Sheriff Schwane was ordered to return them to the Dixon institution. Just west of the Nachusa corners, the young men asked the officers to halt his car for a moment and when he did so, they leaped from the car and ran across the fields.

The men were handcuffed together in pairs, but when captured, two had succeeded in slipping the cuffs from their wrists while the others had been less successful. One of the men wore a bright red sweater coat which resulted in their apprehension. It was reported that two of the four men were reputed automobile thieves and an intensive forth was put forth to capture them before nightfall fearing that some farmer's car might be appropriated to aid them in their escape plan.

A mile south of Nachusa the four men entered a swamp and arranged a crude cover where they could not be seen by Pilot Rinehart Schnell who flew over that section in an effort to locate them. Later when the plane was no longer in the air, they ventured forth hoping to be able to reach the Northwest right-of-way where they could board a freight train and return to Chicago. When captured they protested against being returned to the state hospital, asking that they be taken to some other institution for boys as they were not in need of mental treatment. They were delivered at once to the state hospital and Deputy Sheriff Schwane returned to Chicago.

Drys Will Stand
For No Straddling
Champaign, Ill., June 25 (AP)—The dries, says Dr. William P. McGarvey, assistant to the General Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, will stand for no straddling of the prohibition issue by candidates in the fall election.

The aide to F. Scott McBride declared dry leaders wanted individual expressions of opinion from all political candidates, including those for President, rather than expressions in party platforms.

Rockford, Ill., June 25 (AP)—Evans Anderson, convicted of embezzlements from the Security First Mortgage Company of which he was secretary, was sentenced today to ten years in the state penitentiary. A stay until July 16 was granted for an appeal.

DIDN'T FIND BOYS
Deputies from the office of Sheriff Fred Richardson scoured the north bank of Rock river from a point west of the Borden condensory to Nelson last evening in a fruitless search of Guy Burke and Robert Esterbrook, youthful Rockford runaways after it had been reported to the office that the runaways spent Thursday night at a one-water camp in the world's armaments in hiding and ran when other boys attempted to approach them and engage in conversation.

They had built a small fire and prepared food along the river, it was found, but aside from a small package apiece, appeared to have no other baggage and were travelling afoot. They refused to venture away from the river when invited to a house for a drink of cool fresh water and preferred to drink water from the river out of a bottle. Both boys were said to be suffering from the effects of nettles, but otherwise appeared in high spirits and were in good health, it was reported to the officers.

Hoover's Proposal
Gets Consideration
Paris, June 25 (AP)—President Hoover's proposal for a one-third cut in the world's armaments will be considered "in the most serious spirit" by the nations conferring at Geneva, Premier Herriot said today after a meeting of the cabinet.

"Anything which comes from President Hoover has a claim to thorough consideration," he said. "I have read and re-read this message of his and I will read it many times again."

"In it there are certain clauses which were inserted out of regard for France, notably a passage concerning fortifications. Perhaps the strength of 100,000 men which the President attributed to the German army is not exact, but the figure may have been a cable error."

The Premier criticized the President's omission of any provision for a possible coalition of forces.

Boston's Protest
Disallowed Today
New York, June 25 (AP)—President John Heydler of the National League today disallowed a protest filed by the Boston Braves on a game with Brooklyn June 2, which Brooklyn won 6-1.

The protest was based on a decision of the umpires allowing George Kelly to score from first base on an overthrow of the bag by Fritz Knothe, Braves third baseman. The Braves contended Kelly was entitled to only two bases.

Heydler upheld the contention of Boston that Kelly was given one more base than is allowed under the rules but held that as Brooklyn subsequently scored five more runs the game was decided on its merits and the protest disallowed.

SIAM'S REVOLT WAS CAUSED BY MONEY DISTRESSDrastic Financial Situation Brought It
About Friday

BULLETIN
Washington, June 25 (AP)—Kenneth Potter, American charge d'affaires at Bangkok, Siam, cabled the State Department today that the King had accepted the terms of the provisional government under which he will head a constitutional monarchy and that the acceptance was enthusiastically received by the public.

Paris, June 25 (AP)—The chief cause of the revolt at Bangkok Siam, which overthrew the absolute rule of King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambai yesterday, was economic distress, reports reaching here today said.

The King has been powerless to cope with the economic crisis, a Havas News Agency report said, and he destroyed his almost divine prestige by alternating between dictatorial and dilatory methods, and by consulting with his subjects.

The report said there also had been rumors of court extravagance and maladministration of public funds recently. When the last budget failed to balance, it said, it was necessary to resort to increased taxation and then to drastic economic measures, which proved the last straw.

The newspaper Le Matin heard that a number of army functionaries were dismissed by the King last week as a result of the economic drive.

The financial situation has been so desperate recently, the Havas Agency said, that Sir Edward Cook, who has been acting as financial adviser to the King, notified the monarch he considered his presence in Bangkok no longer necessary and that it would be useless to replace him with another expert.

"NASTY WORDS"
IN COMMITTEE
UN-CHALLENGEDMinnesota Democratic Leader Is Used To Hearing "Liar"

By RALPH WHEATLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, June 25 (AP)—The spectacular factional strife of the Louisiana Democracy was added today to the problems and controversies confronting the national convention.

Firmly in control, the supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the National Committee last night tentatively seated a delegation headed by the irrepressible self-styled "Kingfish" Huey D. Long, over the protest of two other groups opposed to the New York Governor's nomination.

In addition they gave official tentative status to pro-Roosevelt delegations from Minnesota and Porto Rico, over-ruling hostile groups claiming a place in the convention.

It all presaged a rousing fight to be waged Monday before the convention Credentials committee, and later, in the case of the Louisiana squabble, on the floor of the convention itself.

Nasty Word Unnoticed
John E. Reagan, Mankato, Minnesota, leader of the Democratic National leaders declined to send campaign funds to Joseph Wolf, National Committeeman from Minnesota, because they "didn't trust him."

"You're a liar," retorted Wolf in a natural conversational tone.

Reagan paid no attention, but continued to speak.

"They told out the Democratic party to the Republicans," charged Reagan.

"You're another liar and a dirty crook," said Wolf and moved as if to arise but somebody grabbed him by the shoulder.

"Oh, I'm used to that," explained Reagan as an aside remark.

The Minnesota row was between a delegation pledged to Roosevelt headed by Elmer Hoidal and a Smith delegation led by Neil M. Cronin. The Hoidal delegates were placed on the temporary roll by a vote of 71 to 14.

Then the committee took up the Louisiana contest between a Huey Long delegation, unpledged but announced for Roosevelt, and a delegation headed by ex-Governor Jared Y. Sanders, unpledged and unannounced as to presidential preference. It also permitted a third delegation, led by Fernand Mouton, French-speaking Louisiana, to tell about his "anti-K" "fish" delegation and stage a first class comic monologue.

Mr. Sanders opened with a plea to seat his delegation as is represented the "clean and decent Democrats" of his state that were opposed to the bossism of Huey Long.

Senator Long retorted with the claim that his delegates represented the people of Louisiana while the others were ex-officio holders.

But Mouton said he represented the real people's delegates and that there were three fish delegations before the committee.

The King-fish, the ex-fish and the little fish," he said.

ELDENA CO-OP.
ELEVATOR WAS
FUEL OF FLAMESThe Grain-Filled Building
Burned To Ground
Friday Night

Fire of unknown origin, which totally destroyed the Eldena Cooperative elevator last night about 10:30 o'clock for more than an hour threatened destruction to the entire village, but by prompt action on the part of the Dixon community fire truck and Eldena citizens the flames were confined to the elevator, which with much of its contents was a total loss. Hundreds of bushels of wheat and corn smoldered today across the Illinois Central tracks and a section crew was on duty throughout last night and today keeping the single main line track open to traffic.

The fire was discovered shortly after 10 o'clock in the copola of the elevator and, fanned by a west wind, gained considerable headway before the community fire trucks of Dixon and Amboy arrived upon the scene. Citizens formed bucket brigades and poured water on roofs and fronts of store buildings across the street which were threatened several times. Sparks were carried for some distance and small fires started on other buildings but were quickly extinguished.

Loss About $20,000
The loss, which was estimated at about $20,000 was this morning reported to be partially covered with insurance. An adjuster was expected today to estimate the loss to the structure and contents and officers of the company, while a meeting had not been held, expressed their opinion that the building would be replaced at once.

Peter Hoyle is president of the elevator company; Henry Shippert secretary and the board of directors consists of Peter Hoyle, Henry Shippert, Dick Johnson, Dave Howard, Harry Slaybaugh, Adam Salzman and Herman Wasmund.

The origin of the fire is not known. When discovered the flames had gained considerable headway in the top of the structure and within an hour the building had burned to the ground. It was estimated that about 5,000 bushels of corn and wheat were contained in the bins.

Tracks Were Blocked
The intense heat and the weight of the grain caused the bins to burst and the burning grain fell across the railroad tracks on the east side of the building. A cement block store room on the north of the elevator was almost completely emptied of grain and a new stock of the Amboy fire department had been switched on the loading track yesterday were removed by a north-bound freight train which was delayed for some time by the fire. One of the cars was loaded with grain ready for shipment.

An old well was used by the Dixon fire department members to great advantage in preventing the flames spreading to other buildings along the one main street of the village.

The Amboy fire department pumped water from other wells in the village and extinguished several small fires which started on the roof of a one story frame coal storage shed to the south of the elevator and buildings east of the Illinois Central depot.

Hundreds of people thronged the village until after midnight watching the progress of the flames. The fire could be seen for miles from the time it broke out in the top of the high cupola until the building was totally consumed.

RULE BY LOVE, NOT FEAR
THE real man is a witness of God. Then let all our communications reflect this truth, witnessing to God. This should be the standard of conversion, its purpose and its meaning.

"Speak gently, it is better far to rule by love than fear; Speak gently, let no harsh word mar The good we may do here."

"Speak gently it is a little thing, Dropped in the heart's deep well; The good, the joy, that it may bring Wherewith shall tell."

4-H Club Radio Program July 2

How a club girl may dress well in a limited budget through applying facts learned in 4-H Club work will be discussed by Edna Schweitzer, Illinois club girl, who speaks in the National 4-H Club radio program scheduled for broadcast on July 2 on a coast to coast network of 58 radio stations associating with the National Broadcasting Company.

LeRoy Getz a Pennsylvania 4-H club boy will tell about his 4-H Club work in raising potatoes. LeRoy has produced a yield of more than 400 bushels of potatoes to the acre during four out of five years he has been connected with club work.

The boys and girls who have passed the age limit of club membership furnish a problem that is under careful consideration in most States. How Illinois is meeting this problem will be told by Miss Martha Hensley, club specialist for the northern district of Illinois.

Ray Turner of the United States Department of Agriculture will pay a tribute to the unselfish efforts of volunteer local club leaders who are devoting their time and energy to bringing the advantages of 4-H Club work to farm boys and girls in their communities.

The musical part of the program will be devoted to a study of some of the musical compositions played during the 1931-32 national 4-H music achievement test, which started on December 5, 1931. The U. S. Marine Band will play certain selections which club members are urged to identify by title and composer. This program has been arranged to permit club members to test their memories regarding the identity of certain well-known American compositions. It is not a contest.

The National 4-H Club radio programs, broadcast on the first Saturday of each month, are arranged by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural colleges. The time is (11:30 A. M. to 12:30 P. M. CST. by stations KYW and WOC.

Ruth Ticknor Mills Soloist Sunday Eve

Special musical numbers as well as chorus and enthusiastic congregational singing will be a feature of this year's Bible conference each evening the singing will be preceded with numbers by the orchestra directed by Mr. Wilson of the Racer association. The musical evening will be most outstanding. A chorus of eighty voices will assist with the congregational singing and offer a hymn anthem, accompanied by orchestra and two pianos.

A group of Dixon's singers, representing the choirs, will sing Buck's "Festival De Deum" in E flat.

The guest soloist of the evening is Ruth Ticknor Mills, contralto of Rockford, who will sing two groups of songs. Mrs. Mills is a member of the quartet of the large Court Street M. E. church of Rockford, and the most outstanding contralto of that city. Her singing will be an inspiration to all who attend.

MADONNA LILIES AT MURPHY HOME

In this garden are many shades of delphinium, in blue, pink and mauve. The lilacs—glorious Madonna lilies shedding fragrance from the white wax-like petals cups, with long yellow stamens. There are at the present time, nearly one hundred of these lilacs in bloom.

POLITENESS IN CHILDREN

Customs concerning the manners of children change with the times.

There was the children—should-be-seen-and-not-heard period that lasted quite a while. Next came the ear of the show-off where the child was the center of the floor.

Three-year-old Charles lisped "Twinkle, twinkle, little star!" and twelve-year-old Dora clung to the Curfew Bell.

About the time the word "parlor" changed to "living room" gestures became the thing. Little girls "curtsied" and tiny fellows bent over like croquet wickets, folding an arm somewhere amidstships as they did so. At all costs they must impress mother's friends with their knowledge of what was what in child etiquette.

And this was all right as far as it went except that too frequently the bow and the "curtsy" were all they did know of any kind of social grace.

But in former days the manners of children were super-imposed. They were largely farcial and unnatural. Natural manners must be bred in the very spirit to be real. They didn't fit them well—they were stilted and unreal and were about as consistent with childhood as a black eye was with a Fair.

Now let's have a few more of the children's curtsies and bows. I shall add hastily that I do not disapprove if they make either a little boy or girl feel foolish.

I love manners in any form but I like natural gestures. I am very fond of a little hand proffered for me to take and a direct and friendly "How-do-you-do." If a child likes to curtsy or bow, let her, or him, do so by all means. It is no great point to quarrel over.

It is just that posing—if it is posing—is always very apparent. And I suffer so for the children.

If parents themselves possess an innate courtesy, and the home atmosphere is polite and kind, children will readily fall into line. Another entity in the matter is the age of the children. A child of eight is ready for certain points of polite behavior that his brother of five finds foreign and foolish and so on up and down the line.

The great thing is not to make them self-conscious, and to associate good behavior with pain.

The general rules of conduct that govern older people are the main correct for them, too. Be sure for older people should not be lacking, but any performance that shouts, "I do this because I am just a child," to my mind is out of order.

Childhood should neither be exploited, suppressed, nor apologized for.

MANY MOTHERS CAN BE SAVED EACH YEAR
"Ten thousand American mothers could be saved each year if America would adopt the European practice of properly supervising maternity," according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, noted statistician.

Gen. Custer's Widow Alive on 46th Anniversary of Massacre

New York, June 25.—(AP)—Fifty-six years ago one of the most colorful military leaders America ever produced, General George A. Custer was massacred with 207 of his men near the Little Big Horn river in Montana. In one of those battles between Indians and white men that marked the westward march of civilization.

Today in her apartment on lower Park Avenue, General Custer's 90-year-old widow observed the anniversary, in seclusion. In past years she has usually granted an interview on this day, but today she said to her companion, "I'm not feeling up to the mark." The interview was cancelled.

Mrs. Custer seldom goes out any more. She cannot walk very well. About twice a month she goes for an automobile ride.

On Wednesday she heard over the radio ceremonies by which a memorial erected to General Custer's memory by the Ohio General Assembly at his birthplace, New Rumley, O., was unveiled.

Prairieville Social Circle Picnic Wed.

The members of the Prairieville Social Circle and families and a number of visitors enjoyed the annual picnic of the Circle Wednesday. The day being ideal, a large gathering with well filled baskets enjoyed the day together. There were 113 present. The chicken and noodle dinner with a variety of salads, pickles and pie, with cake and ice cream was all that could be desired. After dinner some sought the bathing pool and some the amphitheatre. The young children enjoyed the swings, slides and the merry-go-round. The crowd dispersed about 4 o'clock, all hoping to be present at the July meeting with Mrs. W. O. Miller who lives on the Middle road, the date to be decided later. As there is but one meeting in July the hostess is desired as Mrs. Miller is a new member and volunteered to entertain.

Entertains Happy Eight Club Fri.

Mrs. Will Wachtel of College avenue entertained the Happy Eight Club Thursday evening. Mrs. Ann Kilmer won high honors. Mrs. Tilton received consolation. Tempting refreshments were served and everyone had a delightful evening.

OF GARDENS HERE AND THERE

In speaking of gardens, Mrs. Pry's garden at the Lee County home is lovely. Lily pools, lilies, roses, and almost every kind of flower one can think of. Especially lovely right now are the Madonna lilies. The abundant rains have been good for them and they are blooming in all their beauty and fragrance. On one stalk of Madonna lilies nineteen blossoms are counted.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

A week ago a little boy sat on a curbstone reading a funny paper. His eyes were glued to the red and blue and yellow picture stories. So absorbed was he in the picture stories that he did not see a truck pull up to park.

It knocked him over and ran over his frail little body and killed him.

Perhaps he saw it in time and could have jumped out of the road, or perhaps it was just one more of the iron colossi to which he had become accustomed.

He lived in a world of moving death but it had never touched him and he knew it never would. The driver may have seen him, but perhaps not. The driver, too, had become accustomed to children swarming about, but he had never hurt one and he just knew he never would.

The little boy knew—the driver knew—the boy's mother thought she knew. They say he often sat there and she supposed it was safe enough.

But one or all were wrong. No one will ever know which of the three that day should have been more careful. The little chap is dead.

And now the driver will watch curbstones and the mother will forbid the other children to go near them.

Women's Bible Class Had Picnic

Everyone attending had a delightful time and enjoyed the bountiful supper.

There was chorus singing which was a feature, led by John Cadie.

HOARDERS FORK OVER

Stockton, Calif. — Who said the anti-hoarding drive was just a waste of time and money? When a local woman bought a truck from C. M. Menzies, garage owner, some of the gold pieces and other coins which made up her $250 down payment dated back as far as 1853. And, according to Menzies, more cash payments are being made now than at any time in the past several years.

A LESSON THAT WE SHOULD LEARN.

Perhaps the fact that the incalculably important reparations conference at Geneva is under way without any Americans present is at least partly due to Uncle Sam's persistent feeling that when the thing is over he will be left holding the bag anyway, whether he sits in or not.

Technically, of course, Germany's professed inability to pay any more reparations is none of the United States' business.

But one need not be very familiar with European politics to know that if the allies get no more reparations payments from Germany the United States will get no more war debts payments from the allies. Reparations and war debts may not be related, but they are beginning to look more and more like twin brothers.

In plain English: Uncle Sam's chances of getting his money back are very slim indeed, and we might just as well begin to wake up to the fact.

And if we are half as smart as we like to think we are, we can let the whole war debts-reparations mixup be an extremely valuable lesson to us.

The war of 1914-18 will not, probably, prove to be the last European war. Sooner or later there will be another one. When it comes, one side or the other, or both together, will look to the United States for money and munitions.

Commissions headed by famous statesmen will cross the Atlantic, huge loans will be discussed, vast contracts will be offered to the munitions factories.

And if Uncle Sam has any memory at all, he will send all of these commissions back across the ocean with empty hands. And he will say something like this:

"We financed a European war once before, and in the end we found out that most of the money that we sent overseas was gone for good. We don't want to repeat the experience. It was too expensive. Hereafter not one American dollar will be loaned to any warring nation; not one American factory will sell a dollar's worth of goods to a warring nation. You'd better go hunt up another sucker."

OUR CHANGING NATION.

Just as if the nation did not have enough problems already, it is now being asserted that we are about to enter on a period of declining population.

Dr. P. K. Whelpton of Scripps Foundation for Research in Population Problems has been studying the census, and he finds that they forecast such a period very clearly.

Between 1920 and 1930, for example, there was a smaller percentage of the population under five years of age than in former years. There were, in fact, fewer children under five than between the ages of five and ten—the first time in American history that this had happened.

This, of course, reflects quite clearly a declining birth rate; and since immigration has been cut down to almost nothing it seems fairly certain that in a few years the population of the United States will not only stop increasing but will begin to decrease—very slightly, perhaps, but nevertheless perceptibly.

This will have a number of effects on national life. In the first place, American industry will no longer have the constantly expanding domestic market that it has always had in other years.

Cities will no longer show steady, constant growth. It will no longer be possible for a cunning speculator to buy up farm land beyond the suburbs and, by holding onto it until the city has expanded to meet it, make himself rich.

Land values in general, instead of rising slowly but surely as they have ever since the Revolution—except for brief intervals of depression—will remain constant, or will even suffer a slow decline.

In other words, business and industry will have to accommodate themselves to an entirely new situation. From the very beginning, we have had something very like a continuous boom in this country—but it's about over now.

War between Japan and America is possible only in two contingencies. First if Japan interferes in the western hemisphere. This is unthinkable. Secondly, if the United States attempts to dominate Asia, which is also unthinkable.—Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, former Japanese ambassador to the United States.

When they get us hicks down where we can't make a dollar, conditions are in a bad way. We hicks, you know, are the backbone of the country.—Frank Mullen, Watertown, Wis., farmer.

The world's total stock of monetary gold has at all times in recent years been adequate to support the credit structure legitimately required by world trade, and the rapid decline of prices which began in 1929 cannot be attributed to any deficiency in the gold supply.—Majority report, League of Nations monetary commission.

I don't think a man has a chance to build up a defense and present that defense before a Senate committee.—W. R. Daley, attorney for Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier.

With the conclusion of the present asparagus shipping season local growers have been hosts to their employees at their homes or on picnics. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Shippee were hosts to the crew caring for the Shippee asparagus beds Friday evening. After an evening of games a delicious supper was served.

At Lowell Park near Dixon on Thursday, the men cutting at the Oscar Schade and Son asparagus fields, were guests of the Shades at a picnic. An ideal day for picnicking, brought out a large number of the crew and the event was one enjoyed by every one.

Monday, June 27, the M. E. Sunday school will picnic at Lowell Park, with games and sports as the afternoon's feature and a picnic lunch at 6 o'clock.

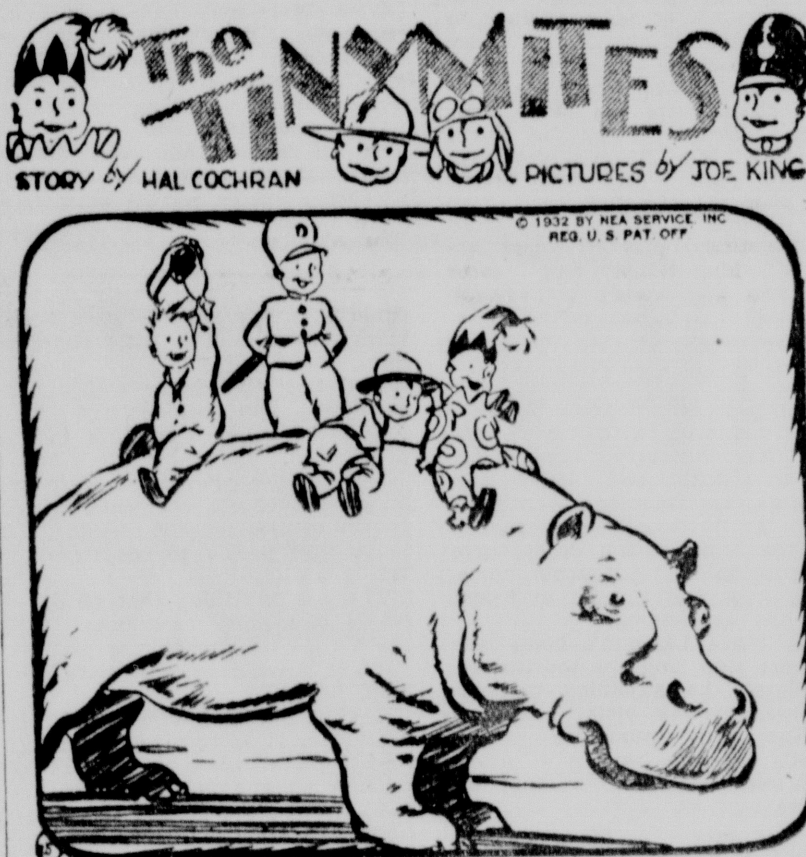

Ashton Woman's Club enjoyed an ideal day for their first annual picnic at Dugdale's Grove on Friday afternoon with games and other sports enjoyed during the afternoon and a six o'clock lunch enjoyed by the families of the members at six o'clock.

Many from the community will attend the community picnic to be given by Pine Rock Grange at Chana on July 4th, when sports and a baseball game will follow a noon day picnic.

Picnics and reunions are the most favored forms of recreation these days with many organizations and families enjoying the pleasure of meeting in a beautiful spot to renew old friendships and enjoy a meal in the open.

The Heinzeroth family of Reynolds township met at the Henry J. Wagner home on Sunday enjoying the day at picnic lunch at noon with a program of music and readings given by the various members at two o'clock.

At the T. T. Grover home in Lafayette township, the members of the family enjoyed a reunion, celebrating the birthday anniversary of T. T. Grover. Mr. and Mrs. Grover, natives of Norway, came to this country settling first in the neighborhood of Shabbona and later moving to Pine Rock.

"The monkeys do their stunts with ease upon that wonderful trapeze," said Copsy, "and I'll bet that I could do some good tricks, too."

"At least I'm going to try my luck. If I get tangled up and stuck, you Tinymites can help me. Wait now, till the monkeys are through."

The biggest monkey of the bunch, all of a sudden, got a hunch that he could hang down by his tail and swing out through the air. He started squealing very loud. "Twaa to attract the Tiny crowd. It seemed that he was saying, 'Watch! I'll give you all a scare.'"

Then, with the trapeze swinging high, the monkey made everybody sigh by leaping 'way out in the air. Said Duncy, "He won't fall."

"Just watch him. He is safe and sound and will not topple to the ground. The act is really clever. He is hanging by his tail."

The next thing that the Tinies knew, the little monk came flying through the air. He lit on Duncy's chest and knocked him to the ground.

The monk then squealed in keen delight. It was a rather funny sight. Poor Duncy jumped up, as the other Tinies gathered 'round.

"Well, now 's my chance to do some stunts," said Copsy. "I will try it once." He climbed up on the trapeze and amused the Tinymites. All of a sudden Duncy cried, "Perhaps we'd better run and hide. Here comes a great big hippo. Gee! Of all the funny sights!"

"Oh, he's a tame one," Scouty said. "Don't run! We'll ride on him, instead. When we're aboard I'll make him go by giving him a whack."

The funny hippopotamus stood still and didn't start a fuss when all the happy Tinies climbed upon the big fat back.

(Duncy tries some wire walking in the next story.)

The man whose business touches every budget in advertising

It is evening, and under the station lights, a man with a Gladstone bag moves out toward a limited train.

Tomorrow the records, the invoices, every document and report in a great publisher's circulation office will be opened to him. Each executive, each press foreman, every newspaper boy on the streets is instructed by the publisher to give this man every bit of information he can.

The man from the Audit Bureau of Circulations!

He is employed jointly by publishers and advertisers. Commissioned by them to go into every detail of circulation—how great it is, where it is, how it is obtained.

Over the continent, more than sixty of these trained auditors are on the road. In almost every publication office of importance in the United States and Canada they check, compare, analyze the facts.

Publishers want this work done so that they and their competitors will all be on the same basis. Advertisers need it so that their comparison of media may be all on the same basis—so that they may know what their dollars buy.

What is your share, as an advertiser, in directing these auditors of the A. B. C.? Are you supporting, helping to supervise these activities which help to guard your budget?

Advertisers are urged to join the distinguished group of advertisers, agencies and publishers who make up the Audit Bureau of Circulations, and who through co-operation have taken the guesswork out of circulation buying. Write today for full facts about Bureau membership.

Mock Murder Trial June 29

Woman's Club Notes

The club was favored with an ideal day for their garden tour last Monday, and more than twenty-five members and their friends met in the park where cars were waiting to convey them about town. The gardens visited were those of Mrs. Durkes, Mrs. Trostle and A. T. Gilbert. From that neighborhood we went to the Frank Senger home, and then on to the garden of Mrs. Pegley to see her rock garden and flower beds. At the Joel Senger home the roses and peonies were the most prominent flowers. Down the street we visited Mrs. Baker's rock garden and pools. Mrs. John Spratt has a most attractive yard with several small pools and one large one, artistically planted and arranged. Mrs. Withey had some very fine rose blooms to exhibit. Our next stop was at the L. A. Trottnow home to see their cement pool. Mrs. Sunday has her garden very nicely arranged, and has in mind a definite plan for future plantings with perennials. John Coners' have a very pretty yard to which they plan to add more garden features eventually. The R. C. Gross flower garden was then visited and from there we drove to J. H. Lincoln home, where roses and dahlias in bloom were the attractions.

Miss Clara Lahman's home was the next stop, and the tourists also visited the adjoining gardens. This was the last vicinity visited, but there are numerous other gardens which we saw as we drove about town and that were very attractive and well-kept — we must especially mention the Madonna lily blooms at the Henry Dierdorff home. They were most beautiful; we wished that the day were longer and that we were able to visit every garden in town, but were impossibilities, and so we concluded the afternoon by going back to the Park for a delicious luncheon, feeling that the Garden tour brought to mind that there really is great interest among our townspeople in beautifying their grounds with flowers and shrubs.

Daily Health Talk

OXYGEN AND CARBON DIOXIDE

Oxygen is essential to life. When the living body is deprived of oxygen for more than a few minutes death results.

Oxygen is a chemical substance which, so to say, unlocks the energy taken into the body in the form of food.

In the last analysis, it is the oxidation of the nutritive material conveyed by the blood through the lymph to the individual cells of the body that makes the energy available for the body's living processes.

Breathing is regulated by the body's need for oxygen, which in turn is regulated by the carbon dioxide in the blood.

Carbon dioxide is also present in the air and the depth and frequency of our breathing is regulated by the amount of carbon dioxide brought to the lungs through the blood and by the percentage of carbon dioxide in our inspired air.

In certain conditions due to disease and gas poisoning, it becomes necessary to enrich the atmosphere we breathe with oxygen.

This may be indicated when, as in the case of pneumonia, an appreciable portion of the lung structure is put out of working order, and the remaining portion may not suffice to take up the required amount of oxygen, and the symptoms of oxygen starvation appear.

Dr. Yandell Henderson demonstrated that often the body's intake of oxygen may be accelerated by adding carbon dioxide to the artificially produced air given the patient, particularly in cases of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The addition of the carbon dioxide to the oxygen results in deeper breathing and a better aeration of the entire available lung tissue.

Oxygen is used in pneumonia even when the evidences of oxygen starvation appear.

PHILLIES NOW "WONDER TEAM" OF NATIONALS

They Have Clouted Out 8
Victories In Last
Eleven Starts

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

With the Boston Braves beginning to show distinct signs of the "crack" that the experts have been predicting for them ever since they shot up into the high places of the National League, standing, early this season, the Phillies have become the current "wonder team" of the elder circuit.

Although Boston took a severe pushing around during its home stand against the west and has shown few signs of improvement in two games since then, the Braves still are second, only two games behind the lead. The Phillies, meanwhile, have come with a tremendous rush in the past two weeks, climbing from seventh place on June 12, when they journeyed to Cincinnati for a one day stand, to a good fourth today.

Was Turning Point

That overnight trip apparently was the turning point for the Phils, who boasted some terrific hitting power but hadn't made much use of it. They won that game and since then have clouted out eight more victories in eleven starts.

The Phils "murderers row," Dick Bartel, Chuck Klein and Don Hurst, led a 15 hit attack on Jim Mooney and Sam Gibson of the New York Giants yesterday to gain an 11 to 6 decision and keep Philadelphia only a half game behind Pittsburgh. Bartel and Klein made four hits apiece and Chuck became the first National League player to pass the 100 hit mark, stopping at 103. Hurst contributed his tenth home run and a single to drive home three tallies.

Pirates Hang On

Pittsburgh had a rather rough road as they clung grimly to their hold on third place. The Bucs blew a brief early lead over Cincinnati in a duel between Helme Meilne and Eppa Rixey and then won in the seventh inning when Lloyd Waner hoisted a home run with none aboard, to make the final count 4 to 3.

Boston lost a full game to both its pursuers and a half to the league leading Chicago Cubs when Hollis Thurston stopped the Braves batters almost dead and hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3 to 0 victory. It was Boston's tenth defeat in the last 14 games.

Thurston, who hasn't lost a game he started this season, gave ten hits but pitched expertly in the pinches while Hack Wilson's 14th homer of the season and a group of four blows with an error by Knothe in the second gave the Dodgers their runs. Five double plays helped Thurston in the tight spots.

The Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals had an open date as did the entire American League.

DIDN'T HURT SHADOW

Seattle, Wash. — Stepping a few fast rounds with his shadow, Fred Williams, 36, was showing a few lady admirers how the manly art of boxing should be done. It so happened that his shadow was being pulled off in front of a glass store window. Fred shot out a straight left. Crash! The punch went through the window. Fred went to the hospital for treatment and then found himself in jail.

"Marquard Pitching"—And He Won!

There was nary a squeak or a rattle in the ol' soupbone, once Rube Marquard had warmed it up a bit. And the fans must have rubbed their eyes when this vision from the baseball past marched out to the mound and pitched Atlanta, Ga. to a 4-to-3 victory over the Little Rock, Ark. team. Now coach of the Atlanta club, the veteran southpaw had asked for a chance to show that there was still a lot of cunning in the wing that once set a world's record of nineteen straight wins while he was with the New York Giants. This picture was taken on the day Marquard staged his comeback.

HARVARD CREW DEFEATS YALE IN BIG UPSET

Both Crews are Looking Forward Now to Olympics

By EDWARD F. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New London, Conn., June 25—(AP)—The old whaling town took in its flags today, the annual regatta day gone for another year, the throngs went home, the big fleet of pleasure craft weighed anchor in the harbor, leaving to the impressive Thames, alone, a Harvard crew that preened in newfound glory, and eight bitterly disappointed Yale oarsmen.

For them the ancient rivalry of 80 years standing, usually ending each season with the four mile battle from Bartlett's Cove to the railroad bridge, had only just begun. Ahead of both lay the Olympic rowing tryouts at Worcester, for Yale the chance to avenge Harvard's crushing three length victory yesterday, for the Crimson the chance to rise to further heights as one of the greatest crews in Cambridge history.

Harvard went out to smash Yale at its own sprinting game in the first half mile. Without lifting its deadly, space-devouring stroke above 32 to the minute, while the Yells were racing close to 40, Harvard overcame Yale's quarter length lead and went away, never again to be threatened through the long four miles.

And as a result today that power Crimson boat load is heading for the tryouts July 7, 8 and 9 at Worcester with the sudden realization that it can go the 2000 metres Olympic sprint distance as fast as any crew.

Youthful Stars Dominate Tennis

Chicago, June 25 —(AP)—It was a case of shut your eyes and take your pick as four of America's rising stars of tennis entered the semi final battle for the western singles championship on the River Forest Club courts.

The battle, narrowed down to Frank Parker of Milwaukee, Junior Coen of Kansas City, Lester A. Stiefel of Los Angeles and Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., star, was very much of a toss-up, although Parker has the largest delegation of followers because of his upset of George Lott, America second ranking star, in the quarter final.

Parker faced Coen while Stiefel met Hall in the semi-finals test.

All but Stiefel were idle yesterday, the blonde Los Angeles giant defeating Wray Brown of St. Louis.

What Averages Of Big Leagues Show This Week

New York, June 25—(AP)—A new batting leader in Don Hurst of the Phillies took command of the National League during the week ending yesterday but Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics, following his fence busting routine, continued to set the pace in the American League.

While Hurst was tacking ten points onto his average of last week to take the lead over Paul Waner of the Pirates with .375, Foxx boosted his batting percentage to .382 for a comfortable advantage over Gerald Walker of the Tigers. Waner ended the week in a batting slump, hitting .369, his lowest mark of the year, while Walker had the same average, an increase of five points over his last week's mark.

Chuck Klein, Hurst's teammate, who boosted his batting average nearly 30 points to .362, continued to dominate the play in the National League as Foxx maintained his leadership in five departments in the junior circuit. Klein's rise in batting placed him fourth in his circuit, three points behind Ernest Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher.

Klein became the first major league player of the year to reach the century mark in total hits, when he pounded out four safeties yesterday to increase his total to 103, eight more than Foxx has sent soaring into safe territory.

The Phillies outfielder also holds the advantage in runs scored, 78 to 66 but Foxx leads in runs batted in, 80 to 71 and in home runs 28 to 21. In addition Klein is tied with Babe Herman of the Reds for the National League leadership in triples with 11—a department in which Foxx does not figure seriously.

Although failing to get a double during the week, Paul Waner of the Pirates maintained his advantage over Porter of the Indians and Campbell of the Browns. The elder Waner has connected with 31 two-baggers as compared with 20 each by Porter and Averill.

In triples Buddy Myer, Washington third baseman, has hit ten, one less than Klein and Herman in the senior league. Stolen base honors, however, remained with the American League, Ben Chapman of the Yanks being credited with 12 thefts as compared to eleven for Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals.

Babe Ruth failed to keep pace with Foxx in the race for home run honors in the American League. One home run during the week was the best the Babe could do, while Jimmie sent three soaring into the bleachers. As the result Foxx now leads 28 to 22.

Following Hurst, Waner, Lombardi and Klein, the leading batters in the National League are: O'Doul, Dodgers, .344; Herman, Reds, .337; Stephenson, Cubs, .333; Ott, Giants and Whitney, Phillies, .326 and Critz, Giants, .322.

The American League's ranking batsman after Foxx and Walker are: Dickey, Yankees, .339; Averill, Indians, .335; Gehrig, Yankees, .335; Levey, Browns, .332; Lazzeri, Yankees, .332; Combs, Yankees, .330; Porter, Indians, .321 and F. Schulte, Browns, .316.

Risko reentered the front rank of heavyweights last night by administering a sound beating to Mickey Walker in the 12 rounds at the Cleveland Stadium before a crowd of 15,000.

It was a fast and furious bout all the way, with Risko taking at least seven rounds, and winning the unanimous verdict of Referee Fred Block and the two judges.

High Dive Into Matrimony

Many people have dove into matrimony, but not in the same sense as pretty Georgia Coleman and Mickey Riley, Los Angeles girl and boy who made good. They'll be married following the Olympic games. Miss Coleman is a national diving champion, representing the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Riley also is a national diving champion from the same club. They met in a swimming pool—and maybe they'll keep house in one, for they're both right at home in the water.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Some months ago I picked up a paper and read that the Los Angeles Athletic Club, Southern California, Stanford and California were concentrating on winning all the places on the United States Olympic track team, making it sort of a local affair. Now, in a rather left-handed manner, it appears they are destined to succeed.

Unless somebody quickly thinks there doesn't seem to be any lying around loose, the Californians will have the whole works to themselves, and all those record performances by good eastern athletes desiring the chance to make the team will go to waste.

Eastern jumpers and runners a few days ago passed qualifying tests at Harvard stadium, earning the right to compete in the finals at Stanford University July 15 and 16. Some represented colleges having membership in the Intercollegiate Association. They had reasons to rejoice. The I. C. A. A. A. guarantees their passage to the coast.

But this doesn't make it any easier for Venzke, Lermund, Bullwinkle, Anderson and Beard, to mention some of the unattached. Who would like to pay their way?

A GENEROUS OFFER

The report got around that some California people had offered $7000, to be split three ways for the expenses of qualifiers in the national collegiates, the eastern trials and the midwestern open tests. Unfortunately, no one thought to learn the identity of the generous Californians. A $7000 gift would ease matters. But where is it?

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Chicago — Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey thought it was the biggest moment in her life when seven years ago she came to congress the first woman ever to be so chosen by the democratic party.

She changed her mind, however, last December, when her party made her chairman of the committee on the District of Columbia, the first woman ever to preside over a major congressional party committee.

Now she is about to change her mind again about that big moment. Take it from Mrs. Norton: "When I got up at the democratic national convention in Chicago and second the nomination of Al Smith for President every other event in my political career will pale in comparison."

She has been chosen for the job by the Smith managers. Her "stumping" for the Brown Derby, in the Massachusetts primary brought her the honor at Chicago.

RELIES ON VOICE.—There seems no one who doubts her ability to do the task. She maintains a serene exterior that rarely changes. Two red spots may burn beneath her brown eyes while she is actually making her second speech. They always appear when she is dead in earnest or a bit excited.

She speaks with a rather low and pleasant voice which is easy to hear. There are few gestures if any at all. She relies wholly on her voice for effectiveness.

MAYOR OF CAPITOL.—In Washington they call her the "lady mayor of the capital." As chairman of the district committee she virtually runs the city. She goes to the floor of the House and personally supervises the progress of legislation sponsored by her committee. She has proved more than once that she can take her own part in rough and tumble debate on the floor.

She is an avid worker. Everybody who lives in the district and has a grievance goes to see her. But she remains unruffled through it all. "I always try to see the other person's point of view," she says.

Just recently LaVern was getting corn out of a crib for feeding when he noticed a number of pigeons eating in the crib. MARY AND HER LAMB

WHEN the same little red schoolhouse to which Mary's little lamb "followed her one day" was restored and opened for modern scholars by Henry Ford, the question of who was the real Mary opened anew. One claimant would give the story an English setting; Francistown, N. H., claims a similar honor and has erected a memorial to the "original Mary," Mary Willard. Investigations made by Mr. Ford, however, seem to establish the right of one Mary Elizabeth Sawyer, born in Charleston, Mass., in 1608.

The lamb was a weanling whom Mary had adopted and nursed to health. According to Mary's own story, the lamb's fateful visit to school might have passed unnoticed had he remained hidden under her seat and not followed her to the front of the room when she went up to recite!

Visiting school that day was John Roulstone, who was studying to enter Harvard with a local pastor. John was only twelve at the time, but Mary's predicament led him to write the famous first twelve lines of the poem. The rest of it, containing a moral which may not fit in with them, were added later by Sara Josepha Hale, in whose collection, "Poems for Children," it was first published in 1830.

A BOOK A DAY

CITES FLAWS IN CAPITALISM BY BOOK OF PHOTOS

If I happened to be a Socialist, I would try to see to it that a copy of "A Picture of America," by Charles Cross, landed in every home. It is about the most effective propaganda for Socialism that I have ever seen.

The book is chiefly made up of pictures, accompanied by an explanatory text. It boldly sets forth the idea that most of the country's woes are due to the breakdown of capitalism and it outlines the Socialist cure.

What interests me about this book is not the validity, or otherwise, of the arguments; it is the way in which they are presented.

You see photographs, of stacks of wheat that cannot be sold alongside photographs of city breadlines; photographs of men who lost their jobs when the clothing factories closed, and photographs of people who have not sufficient clothing; photographs, in short, grouped together in such a way as to put terrific emphasis on the defects of American society.

I don't think an intelligent capitalist would find it very hard to reply to the Socialist program with which the book concludes. But he might find it hard to answer the pictures. As a bit of propaganda the book is exceedingly powerful—and unusually interesting.

The book carries an eloquent introduction by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president.

Mr. Spooner and friends of Ohio were fishing along Green river Sunday and returned home with a large variety of fish.

A large crowd motored to Harmon Tuesday evening and attended the pavilion dance and all report a fine time.

An ice cream social will be held Friday evening at Walton sponsored by the young ladies. A cordial invitation is extended to all to patronize this affair.

REPORT ON DRIVE
Chicago, June 24—(AP)—State leaders in the victory fund drive of the Democrats reported today that $719,587 of the $1,000,000 campaign fund goal had been raised.

An additional $200,000 was promised the party for expenses of the convention, bringing the grand total to $919,587.

Numerous party leaders assembled at the meeting arranged for presentation of the reports of those who had led the state drives.

Success has a great tendency to conceal and throw a veil over the evil deeds of men.—Demosthenes.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

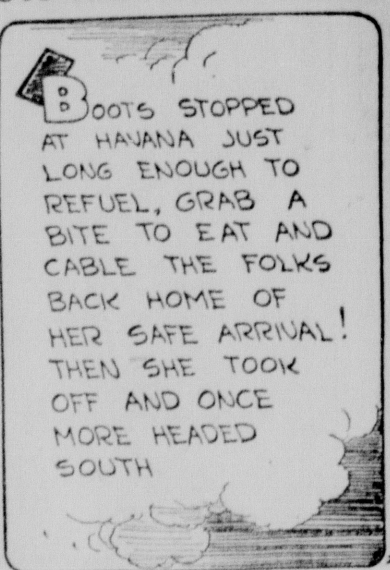

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

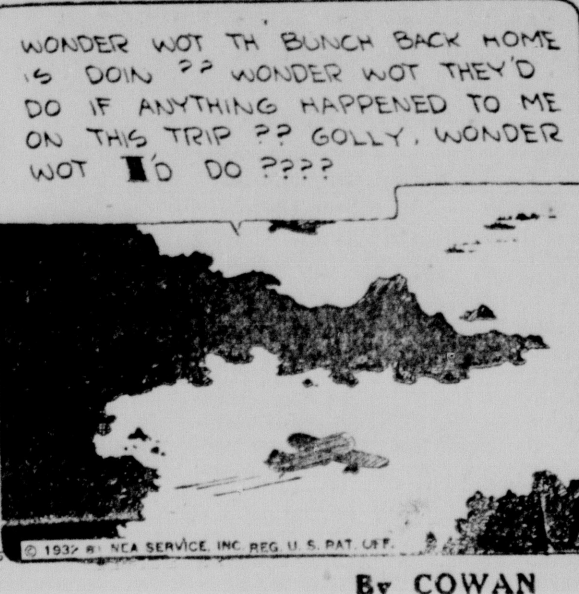

Early writers almost invariably described the giraffe as having forelegs of considerably greater length than the hind ones, and today it is no wonder that this impression is still quite common. The greater height of the animal's foreparts is due to the peculiar formation of the vertebrae which causes a hump on the shoulders. Gazwin, Arabic author of the 13th century, wrote: "As Allah knew it: the giraffe would derive its sustenance from trees. He created its forelegs longer than its hind legs, to enable it to graze on them easily."

TRAYLOR BOOM NOT DEAD SAYS TEXAS MANAGER

Says Chicago Banker's Name Will Be Put Up To Democrats

By R. H. HIPPELHEUSER Associated Press Staff Writer Chicago, June 25—(AP)—Melvin Traylor is the answer to the old slogan: "When is a candidate not a candidate?"

The Chicago banker is not even the "favorite son" of Illinois Democracy. That courtesy went to Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

But down candidates in the Congress no campaign manager was busier today than Frank Scofield, the Texas rancher and creator of the Traylor-for-President movement.

And none was more hopeful. This is the hope of Scofield. A deadlock over Roosevelt so intense that the ardor of delegate will spend itself; then the placing of Traylor's name in nomination.

Only one thing seemed certain as regards Traylor: He won't accept the vice presidency. This, he has told his closest associates.

From Traylor, publicly, there has been no word. He has not visited the headquarters opened by Scofield; he is not expected there. The tenseness in the Chicago financial situation has kept the First National Bank president in his office long hours.

"He hasn't had thought of the convention for days," said Scofield. Is Still Aspirant

But he is still a presidential aspirant. And this fact is conducive to placing the Illinois delegation in the Anti-Roosevelt camp. Traylor has been close, in an advisory capacity, to Mayor Anton Cermak's control of Chicago Democracy. The banker's backers declare the Mayor will do all in his power to aid Traylor.

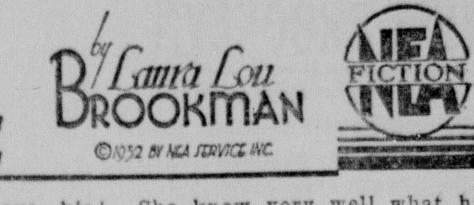

And when and if the times comes, they say, Illinois will touch off the hoped-for barrage of ballots.

Scofield maintains a silence concerning the strength Traylor could muster in the event of a deadlock. "But it's enough," he would say. Scofield is a delegate from Texas.

"I'm pledged to vote several rounds for Garner," he said, "but that won't hinder our Traylor boom. We don't plan on getting started until some of the others cool off."

Although the Traylor headquarters have taken a definite stand against abrogation of the two-thirds rule, Scofield said there was a feeling of friendliness among the Roosevelt delegates for the Chicago banker for second choice.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds what it means to lack money. Her father, who has been so kind to her, now refuses to give her a cent. Dan, who has been so kind to her, now refuses to give her a cent.

Two days later Cherry learns her mother is critically ill. Cherry goes home and at her mother's bedside the father and daughter are reconciled. Mrs. DIXON, who has been so kind to her, now refuses to give her a cent.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a check for $500. She returns the check because she will not let her keep it. Dan, who has been so kind to her, now refuses to give her a cent.

sive shout. "Don't tell me you're jealous, Cherry! Not of old Connie! Oh, that's too ridiculous!"

She whirled and mist made the brown eyes larger, more luminous. She forgot that her lips were trembling. She said, "I've been so lonesome! I've counted on this meeting so. And then you came with—that other girl! You were laughing as though you'd forgotten all about me!"

It was six o'clock of a June evening in the center of Wellington's business district. There were a score of pedestrians in sight. Nevertheless Dan Phillips put both arms around his wife.

"Cherry," he declared, "I swear if you look at me like that again I'll kiss you. I don't care if the entire population is glaring at us. I don't care if the Mayor and the Chief of Police and the Editor of the News are all watching. I think I'll do it anyhow!"

But he didn't. The girl broke away from him, laughing. "Dan Phillips, you're impossible! You're getting sillier every day!"

THEY went to Schroeders', the restaurant where they had dined so often together. It was pleasant to be welcomed by fat, affable Charlie Schroeder and shown to their favorite table. It was pleasant to note the deference with which Dan was greeted.

After the food had been ordered Cherry talked of her mother's recovery. She asked questions about Dan's work and what he had been doing. She wanted to know everything that had happened in those days of separation that had seemed months.

"Same old grind," Dan told her carelessly. "I played cards a couple nights with the boys. Max came over one evening any—well, I guess that's about all. Looks as though there's going to be another investigation down at City Hall."

He went on to give her the latest development in local politics. Cherry tried to seem interested. Presently she said, "You know, Dan, Mother and—well, Father, too—were both awfully nice about everything. They understand about us wanting to be married and they're not angry any more. Mother's going to send the car for me every day so I can go out and spend a little time with her. I'll want to until she's feeling strong again."

"Well, that's all right," Cherry heated. "I was thinking," she went on, "that it would be nice if you'd come with me some time."

"Cherry, you know I can't do that!" "Oh, I know you couldn't during the week but on Sunday or some evening—"

Phillips' chin was set in a hard line. "I can't go Sunday or any time," he said sharply. "Your father asked me to leave his house. I can't go into it—and I won't—until he asks me to come. You can go there as often as you please but you'll have to go alone!"

"But, Dan—"

"There's no use talking about it, Cherry. That's the way I feel and I won't change my mind. If your father wants me to come he can ask me."

The girl sat silent. It was no use; when Dan took that tone she might as well keep quiet. He was as stubborn in his way as was her father. Cherry sighed. After a little she began to talk of other things. Dan's surliness disappeared and when they left the restaurant he was in good spirits once more.

"How about a movie?" he suggested. "No, Dan, I think I'd rather go home. To tell the truth I'm sort of homesick to see the place again."

DAN had been right about his efforts at housecleaning. Inspired though they were by high motives, the results were questionable. He had certainly failed to "get rid of all the dust."

Cherry was at work early next morning. She wore an old dress that was ruined for any other purpose, rolled up her sleeves and tied a towel about her head. For an hour she wielded a broom vigorously. Then with a pail of warm, soapy water she began to wash woodwork. She had just finished scrubbing the floor of the bathroom when the ringing of the bell indicated that someone downstairs wanted to see her.

Cautiously Cherry looked over the banister. "Oh, Martin!" she called. "I had no idea it was so late! If you'll wait just a few minutes I'll hurry!"
